[AWARD WINNERS 2019]

Suzanne Lavelle

14-16 College

"Suzanne is a Health and Social Care student who has been excelling in this area of study all year. She is a caring student who ensures everything she does is completed to a high standard. Suzanne has been offered a place on the College's Nursing and Health Cadet Programme as a result of her high standards of work and commitment."

Tina Blease, Lecturer in Health and Social Care

Robert Pennington

16-18 Maths and English

"Robert has worked at a consistently high standard throughout this academic year and is producing work above the standard of his target grade. Robert's visual impairment means he has to work significantly harder to access written resources and respond to written questions. He works exceedingly hard to do so and the resulting work which he produces has improved week on week during the past three terms."

Thomas Webb, Lecturer in GCSE English

Laura Crellin

19+ Maths and English

"Laura is the definition of a hard working student. She has undertaken a thorough course of study which complements her intention to become a teacher specialising in Special Educational Needs delivery. Laura is engaging in class and is a diligent student. She is determined to do well in her studies and her enthusiasm for education should be rewarded."

Simon Laing, Curriculum Coordinator English

Mohammed Alnour

English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL)

“Mohammed arrived in the UK from Sudan three years ago. He started on the ESOL Entry 3 course in the 2017 where he impressed his tutors with his English language ability and work ethic. This year, he has progressed onto the ESOL Level 1 course and successfully completed his exams. Mohammed is open-minded, caring and friendly and is a popular member of the group.”

Melissa Bestwick, Proportional Lecturer in ESOL and Jennifer Wilson, Lecturer in ESOL

Michelle Kenny

Access to Higher Education

“Michelle has demonstrated high levels of commitment and dedication, not only to the course, but also to her chosen career goal of becoming a Learning Disability Nurse. Michelle also has 100% attendance and punctuality since starting in September. She has been a class rep for this time and goes above and beyond in supporting the group through this role. She raises motivation levels and ensures that there is a high level of engagement from her cohort.”

Stella Joseph, Lecturer in Health and Social Care

Jessica Lam

A-level

“Jessica is a reliable and highly committed student. She is a natural teacher and is always happy to help others. Jessica put a lot of effort into her Nuffield Placement, gaining experience of working in a hospital environment in addition to improving her Science skills. She has a conditional place to study Medicine at either Hull or York University next year and all her tutors believe that she will be a big success.”

Caroline Clift, Lecturer in Biology

[AWARD WINNERS 2019]

Kevin Simpson
Apprentice of the Year

“Kevin has excellent attendance, punctuality and completed additional study from home to ensure that he exceeded his College targets. Kevin has become an accomplished programmer in the last fourteen months and is now able to program to a high standard, despite having little prior knowledge in this area when he started his apprenticeship.”

Richard Hunt, Lecturer in Computing and IT

Naomi Robb
Creative Arts

“Naomi is a very talented student who overcomes health issues that affects her eyesight on a daily basis. Art and design is a visual subject, however Naomi shows that with determination and commitment, that she can overcome anything. The work she produces is always at a high standard, meaning she has been offered a place on the Level 3 course in September.”

Alison Morrell, Curriculum Coordinator of Creative Arts

Samantha Williams
Business, Law, Administration & Accounting

“Sam joined the College with very little confidence, but within weeks of starting her course, Sam’s confidence very quickly began to grow. With this increase in confidence levels, she began to demonstrate excellent leadership skills and is always willing and enthusiastic to take on extra challenges. Sam is progressing into Higher Education at the Hugh Baird University Centre where we have no doubt she will make a huge success of her next step.”

Sharon O’Brien, Lecturer in Business

Reece Turner

Computing & Digital Technologies

“Reece is a confident, enthusiastic young man who has an excellent attitude and commitment to learning. He often asks questions and makes use of the digital learning tools available to him. This is further enhanced by his excellent attendance and punctuality record. Reece has all the characteristics that make him an ideal future undergraduate or employee.”

Emma Griffiths, Study Programme Coordinator

Benjamin Kitchen

Sport & Public Services

“Ben has been an outstanding addition to the Sport and Public Services department and is currently excelling on the NCFE Level 3 Entry to the Uniformed Services course. He is an excellent ambassador for Hugh Baird College. Academically, he pushes past limits to achieve top marks and has met every ‘Distinction’ criteria set for him this academic year. He thoroughly deserves recognition for his contribution, conscientiousness and compassion.”

Sadie Adshead, Lecturer In Public Services

Olivia Neild

Hairdressing, Beauty & Media Make Up

“Olivia is a very caring learner who has excellent manners and work ethic. She is always willing to help and has excellent organisational skills. Olivia has made excellent progress throughout her journey here at Hugh Baird College and has increased her self-confidence levels. She has very good practical skills and can work excellently remotely. Olivia also helps her fellow peers and is a valuable team member.”

Sara Carter, Curriculum Coordinator in Hairdressing and

[AWARD WINNERS 2019]

Olivia Moreman

Health, Social Care, Nursing & Dental

“Olivia has become a model learner who supports others within the classroom. She has organised her own placement and has gained employment at the Liverpool Women’s Hospital on her own personal merits. She is kind, caring and considerate and is a learner all staff would love to have on their team. Olivia is going to be a true asset to any employer who recruit her.”

Stephanie Butler, Curriculum Coordinator for Health and Social Care and Tina Blease, Lecturer in Health and Social Care

Chloe Fogg

Childcare, Teaching & Educational Development

“Chloe has met every deadline during her studies here and has achieved excellent grades. The staff within her placement providers have consistently praised Chloe’s efforts and dedication to the roles she has taken on. She has gone above and beyond expectations ensuring the needs of children in her care are fully met.

Kerry Lawton, Curriculum Coordinator in Childcare

Jamie Claffey

Wet Trades & Professional Studies

“Jamie has great drive and determination and as a result, he has significantly exceeded his target grade achieving a D*DD profile. Due to this commitment, he was one of four students recommended for a work placement with Brothers of Charity. Following this, he was selected for interview and was successful in gaining employment whilst still finishing his studies at the College.”

Jason Henderson, Curriculum Coordinator of Wet Trades

Elliot Caddick

Carpentry & Joinery

“Elliot is an outstanding student who has shown tremendous academic commitment and application to his studies, both theoretically and practically. He is attentive and very inquisitive with an infectious thirst to improve his knowledge and skills. He is also highly respected by his peers and teachers and is a great role model. Such attributes resulted in him securing an apprenticeship position with Museums of Liverpool.”

Neil Dolan, Lecturer/Assessor in the Construction Trades

Christina Dempsey

Building Services

“Christina always performs at an exceptional level. She has developed the sound technical and practical knowledge essential for success within the industry. She is a very determined student with a passion for self development. She also has an understanding of the psychology associated with how to learn most effectively. This has not only benefitted her own learning, but also other group members.”

Paul Williams, Lecturer in Plumbing and John Mason, Curriculum Coordinator of Building Services

Jack Blanchflower

Engineering, Energy & Advanced Manufacturing

“Jack has a very high attention to detail resulting in him achieving the highest possible grade profile of D*D*D*. He is very supportive of his peers and has collaborated with them in building a drifter go-cart which included machining unique components for the project. He has also been selected on two occasions for Degree Apprenticeship interviews through the College’s collaboration with John Moores University.”

Martin Speed, Lecturer in Engineering

Alice Johnson

Motor Vehicle/Motor Cycle

“Alice is a very determined student who, when she joined Hugh Baird College, had no formal qualifications. However, despite this, she demonstrated her potential by completing assessments to a high standard. Her work continues to improve and she is always the first to complete coursework.”

Claire Taylor, Study Programme Coordinator and Paul Magill, Curriculum Coordinator for Motor Vehicle

[AWARD WINNERS 2019]

Annabelle Robson
Floral Design

“Annabelle is keen and eager to help others. She never complains about the workload and just embraces it. In addition, she always produces beautiful flower arrangements to an excellent standard. Annabelle gives 100% to her course, her peers and her place of work. She is a thoroughly hard working individual and will go far in her chosen career.”

Gail O'Hara, Lecturer in Floral Design

Jade Ferguson
Hospitality & Catering

“Jade’s attitude to learning is exceptional and she often leads service sessions in the L20 Restaurant. She is also well on her way to becoming an accomplished Chef. One of Jade’s strongest qualities is her mentoring of learners from across the department. She is often seen showing her peers how to work in many of the College’s commercial areas.”

Stephen Otty, Curriculum Coordinator in Hospitality & Catering

Elkie Anderson
Travel and The Visitor Economy

“Elkie has a very positive attitude to her course and her learning. She is an enthusiastic member of the class who always gives her best. She is happy to help her peers and makes sure everyone is included. She is on course to achieving an overall ‘Distinction’ in her course, is a pleasure to teach and is a valued member of the Travel and Visitor Economy department.”

Wendy Cliffe, Curriculum Coordinator in Travel and Tourism,
Tania Davies, Lecturer in Travel and Tourism, Carol Marshall, Lecturer in Travel and Tourism and Nicola Tracey, Lecturer in Travel and Tourism

Kane O'Dea

Foundation Learning

"Kane enrolled on to the Connect course after being unsure of what to study at Hugh Baird College. Kane is a star student as he is always eager to learn and develop new skills. Alongside this development he has displayed leadership skills. Kane has developed from a shy individual into a confident, reliable student at Hugh Baird College and is now a very mature young man."

Stuart Meredith, Lecturer in Foundation Learning

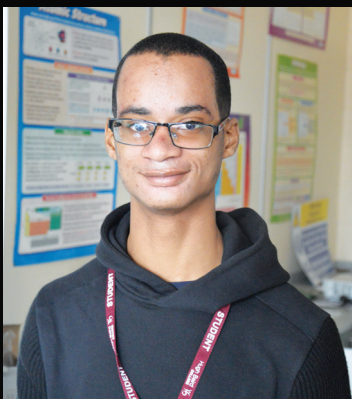

John Muirhead

Learning for Life & Thornton College

"John arrived at Thornton College as a shy but very pleasant young man. He was keen to make friends and was determined to work hard. He is very supportive of others and will go well out of his way to help anybody he can. John will attempt to overcome any barrier he faces with determination, courage and most definitely with humour and a smile."

Kay Angeluk, Curriculum Coordinator at Thornton College

Dylan Stephenson

Science

"Dylan is a strong student with a desire to achieve top marks in all he does. He is inquisitive and works well alone or in a group. He doesn't just rely on his natural gift for scientific investigation and undertakes deep research for his answers. He has a scientific mind-set and he uses it to his advantage. He also acts as an example for the rest of his peers."

James Hale, Lecturer in BTEC Science and Cara Shearer, Lecturer in BTEC Science

[AWARD WINNERS 2019]

Victoria Marshall
Award for Excellence

“Victoria has developed in confidence weekly. She attends additional days to her timetabled programme to work within the commercial salons allowing her to develop her practical skills. Victoria is popular with her peers and takes on a mentoring role to support other learners within the group. She is highly professional and an excellent team player with a passion for beauty therapy.”

Gail Woodward, Lecturer in Beauty Therapy and Kelly Randall, Curriculum Coordinator for Media Make-Up and Beauty

Kane Ward
Award for Excellence in Work Placement

“Kane was a very shy student who didn’t talk much at first, but now he is a valued member of his class who has grown in confidence and catering ability. Kane has overcome personal barriers to attend his work placement this year. Despite never having done any work experience before, he wanted to go out of the College to become independent. We are so proud of Kane’s achievement.”

Rachel Singleton, Chef Lecturer

Marie Hughes
Award for Outstanding Achievement

“Marie is an excellent student and has shown outstanding commitment and personal development since starting the course. She has progressed from the Level 2 Health and Social Care course onto the Access to Higher Education Social Care course. Marie has had a long journey both personally and academically and is an outstanding role model for those with challenging backgrounds.”

Stella Joseph, Lecturer In Health and Social Care

Malcolm Thwala

Award for Personal Development

"In 2017, Malcolm joined Hugh Baird College to study a Level 2 Motor Vehicle course and re-sit his GCSEs. Whilst being a student, Malcolm has been an active member of the Student Council and also represents the College football team. Outside of College, Malcolm is part of the FireFit YouthBod team and is involved in a charity group called Savera UK."

Paul Magill, Curriculum Coordinator for Motor Vehicle,
Kevin Ellison, Lecturer in Motor Vehicle and Claire Taylor, Study Programme Coordinator

Emma Davies

Taylor Prize

"Emma's academic ability is excellent. She shows ability and determination that results in strong performance. She is always keen to develop her knowledge and skills further at every opportunity. She is innovative in her approach to assignments and can always make successful links to her future career goal. She is an excellent student that is very supportive towards other learners and demonstrates excellent teaching skills when doing group work."

Stella Joseph, Lecturer In Health and Social Care
