

Higher Education intended hours of study

Your timetable on a full-time Foundation Entry, Foundation Degree or Honours top-up course is likely to consist of up to 14 hours of taught session times per week, which may include tutorial academic and pastoral session time.

For all part-time courses there are 7 hours of taught session times per week.

Please note:

- Health and Social Care and Children, Young People and their Services courses consist of 11 hours' class contact per week with the remaining hours being conducted in industry as part of the requirements of the qualification.
- The BA (Hons) Education Studies Top up full time course is 7 hours of taught session times per week, which may include tutorial academic and pastoral session time, with 10 hours expected self-directed study hours. The part time route is 3.5 hours of taught session times per week with 5 hours expected self-directed hours.

* Part time students may be in-filled with full time students.

* Some groups may share tutorials or other hours depending on student numbers.

For Teacher Education and Maths courses please check the course page on the website.
